VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Mr. Benjamin Evans' Counsel Desire to Know Who Litigant Is.

A Citizen of Victoria Advises Sir John to do His Duty or Sell Out.

A DEMAND AND AN EXPLANATION.

Victoria, B. C., 30th July, 1889.

EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

DEAR SIR,—Mr. Benjamin Evans has directed our attention to a letter signed "Litigant" which was published in your issue of yesterday evening, and has requested us to apply to you for the name of the writer.

Mr. Evans cannot understand by what right you claim the privilege of discussing in such a public manner his chances of being elevated to the bench in the County Court. We beg to inform you that Mr. Evans has occupied his present position in the Supreme Court for the past five and twenty years, having enjoyed six years previous experience in a similar capacity to Lord Westbury, and naturally, after such a lengthened period of service in court work, Mr. Evans feels indignant that his name should be made use of to hurl any offensive remarks at the merits of a possible appointee to the bench, preferring to retain the ease and quiet of his present position and enjoy his well-earned honors to any you may think him entitled to.

Yours faithfully,

DRAKE, JACKSON & HELMCKEN.

So long as the custom of publishing anonymous communications prevails, it is but reasonable to expect that there will be a curiosity to know the names of the writers, and especially whereas, in the case of "Litigant's" letter, comparisons are instituted between persons well known in the community. But it is not possible, nor would it be honorable, for editors to gratify such curiosity, no matter how reasonable or disinterested it might be. A great deal is said at times against the anonymity of contributions to the press, as though the whole weight, importance or truthfulness of their articles depended upon the signatures and not upon the facts or statements presented by the writers. In respect to the letter of "Litigant," we believed that in giving it publicity we were acting strictly in the public interest. It discussed the proposed appointments for county court judgeships, and pointed out that Mr. Evans, who, in an honorable capacity, has been associated with the supreme court judges of the province for a quarter of a century, was perhaps as well qualified to fill the position as some of the gentlemen who had been recommended. Whatever the solicitors concerned may think of the comparison, Mr. Evans cannot fairly take umbrage at the suggestion. The name of the official court reporter (Mr. Fred Evans) might just as well have been used by "Litigant" in the same connection, excepting that his term of service being comparatively brief it is not reasonable to suppose that he has acquired as much knowledge of judicial affairs as his namesake. However, as Mr. Evans, sen., feels that an undue liberty has been taken with his name, we have to express regret that anything should have occurred to cause him annoyance. Believing, as we honestly do, that Mr. Evans is a faithful officer, we hope he may long be spared to add dignity to the court which he has served so long and so well, and that as our correspondent suggests, if any change is to be made that he may never be degraded by being placed in a minor and less responsible position.—ED. TIMES.

CANADA'S RESPONSIBILITY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I have noticed the absurd notions writers of late, anent the Behring sea seizure, have indulged in about the duty of the British flag. If the shadow of a dubious claim the British only seemingly have on "Canada," as some love to call it, or on the words of a local poet—

"From Atlantic to Pacific
Sure our Beaver's tail does wag."

I say if this shadowy claim justifies a burning of powder at the expense of the British taxpayer, as they seem to think it does, I should like them to show it. Like a blubbering boy having done everything despite the old gentleman, when getting into trouble he sends for paterfamilias to bail him out. Has the British merchant or manufacturer one con cession from our National Policy mongers not accorded to any alien flags? I think not. Has not the adoption of a hostile tariff, more especially against British goods, deadened any sympathy there might have been in any strait the young Dominion may get into. I think it has. Speaking as a British Columbian, I say that if Sir John and his posse after crushing us with heavy taxation, cannot protect us, the sooner they sell out the better. B.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Baseball—Colored Pugilists—Brennan and Cleary.

An effort is being made to bring the pugilists, Cleary and Brennan, together again. Brennan is dissatisfied at his late defeat, caused by a chance blow on the skull sided by the sun's heat, and is anxious for another go at Cleary. In the last battle some of Cleary's friends claim he was a whipped man in the third round, but somehow or other he managed to stand up as a chopping block for eleven more rounds and eventually won.

BASEBALL.

The Port Townsend and Seattle baseball clubs will try conclusions on Saturday next. The Seattle club now consists of the following players: Paul McCarty, catcher; James Malles, pitcher; Joseph Cathoun, left field; J. Blanchard, first base; William Devine, pitcher and third base; George Ganzell, pitcher and short stop; Walter Coffman, centre field and change pitcher; J. O. Mathias, second base; J. T. Kelly, right field.

WATSON-MCINTYRE RACE.

It is reported that a large amount of money will be sent from San Francisco to back McIntyre in his race with Tom Watson. The local runner is the favorite in betting circles in this city in spite of the fact that McIntyre's half mile record is the best ever made on the Pacific coast.

SATURDAY'S GAME.

The Mayflowers and James Bay baseball clubs will play at Beacon Hill on Saturday afternoon.

THE LACROSSE MATCH.

The New Westminster Columbian has information concerning the lacrosse match of Saturday that is partly correct and partly incorrect. It says: "The game was far from being a pretty one, and as a scientific exhibition of lacrosse it was a failure. Fouls were frequent on both sides, and the wrangling at times was most offensive. The audience seemed to consider it their duty to cheer the home team and sneer at the visitors, a proceeding as contemptible as it was unmanly. After the match the usual courtesies extended to a visiting team were overlooked and with as much intention that it was easily perceived. It is hoped a similar exhibition will never be seen in Westminster." The "audience" in this case appears to have been the players. However, that does not matter. The spectators who guyed the visitors were the little boys—the "kids"—as the players themselves acknowledged. The crowd, whether it be at Westminster, Vancouver or anywhere else, is never over generous to the visiting team, and in Victoria they are not an iota better than their neighbors in that respect, so that too much must not be expected in the way of applause. To say that the usual courtesies were not extended at the conclusion of the match is to say what is not true. The visitors were cheered heartily by their opponents and the crowd generally. All this wrangling and throwing out of charges of one kind and another after a match is over is very unseemly and will ruin sports in this province if it continues.

THE TURF.

"Royal," Nanaimo's fleetest race horse, arrived down on this afternoon's train. A match between this racer and Black's horse of Vancouver is being arranged for Saturday next.

CRICKET.

Major Peters of "C" Battery has forwarded a challenge to Dr. Praeger of Nanaimo, for a friendly game of cricket between the officers and men of the battery and the Nanaimo Cricket club. The game, it is expected, will be played on Saturday next at Nanaimo, commencing at 2 o'clock.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

European and American Telegrams in Brief.

Lord Randolph Churchill made a speech at Walsall last evening and today. He advocated a change in the land laws, so that the owner of land would be deprived of the right of bequest to any one after his death; also local option of the hours of labor by adults.

The authorities at Vienna have received information that the striking miners in the Gray district are conspiring to blow up the public buildings and residences of the mine owners and managers. Eight agitators have been arrested.

The Philadelphia cricketers completed their second innings yesterday in the game with the Gentlemen of Southampton, scoring a total of 228. The Englishmen then went in and made 138, with 6 wickets down, when play was suspended for the day.

In the Commons last evening the Royal Grants bill passed its first reading without division amid the cheers of its supporters.

Information has just been received from Assouan that the Dervishes are slowly but steadily advancing. The Egyptian patrols engaged in a skirmish with the Dervish outposts yesterday, during which sixty Dervishes were killed.

La Press, a Boulagist organ, brings an accusation against the government of having falsified 3,000,000 voting papers at the election for council-general last Sunday. Corrected returns show that Boulanger was elected in 23 cantons.

A violent storm struck Concord, N. H., and Haverhill, Mass., yesterday, unroofing houses, uprooting trees and doing general damage.

The much talked of suit is entered against the South Fork Fishing Club today for damage for loss of life and property occasioned by the breaking of the South Fork dam. The suit is brought in this city by the widow and eight children of John A. Little, a well known drummer, who lost his life in the Hurlburt House in Johnstown by the flood. The suit is an action for damages for the loss of life of Mr. Little. The damages are placed at $50,000.

Superintendent of Police Hubbard, accompanied by Lieut. Ross has left Chicago for Winnipeg to superintend the work of bringing Burke back to the United States.

Application for Bail.

In the Supreme Court this afternoon Mr. Charles Wilson applied for permission to release his client Samuel Pearce on bail.

His Lordship to Mr. Irving—Have you considered this application?

Mr. Irving—Yes, your Lordship. There is no objection provided reasonable bail is given.

His Lordship—What security will be given?

Mr. Wilson—The defense will give $250 bail.

His Lordship stated that the bail would be accepted provided the sureties were responsible parties. He also stated that the bondsmen would be held responsible for the appearance of the young man at the forthcoming assizes. They would be called upon to act as his custodians, and if he left the city with their cognizance they would be brought before the court on a criminal charge.

The names of four responsible citizens were submitted to the deputy attorney-general, and it is probable that Pearce will be released on bail this afternoon.

Schiedmayer & Soehne Pianos.

We have just received a consignment of the above pianos direct from the factory. These are the best instruments made in Germany, and are without doubt the best German pianos ever imported into this country. M. W. Waitt & Co.

Telegram from E. C. Baker, M.P., to Minister Bowell on the Subject.

Special to THE TIMES.

Ottawa, July 31.—The government yesterday received a dispatch from E. C. Baker, M. P. for Victoria, stating that great irritation existed there over the renewal of aggressions in Behring sea by American revenue cutters. A great indignation meeting was to be held to discuss the high handed proceedings. Hon. Mr. Bowell telegraphed to Collector Hamley at Victoria for reliable information regarding the matter and received a reply to the effect that the vessel had been seized seventy miles from land.

L. Cornelier, brother to Cornelier the well known Montreal lawyer, and partner of the Speaker of the House of Commons, was arrested to-day on a charge of forging an official cheque on the Bank of Montreal with the signatures of the Deputy Minister of Public Works and accountant.

COMMENTS AND NOTES.

The C. P. R. Route—Quebec—Vancouver—Canadian Nationality.

It is perhaps no exaggeration to say that the road which traverses the great tracts of land, which lie between Victoria and Halifax, is better known to the average Canadian than is the road between John O'Groat's and Land's End to the ordinary Englishman; or, to adopt the characteristically expressive American term, which has the advantage of including all the inhabitants of the British Isles, to the ordinary Britisher. The Englishman who goes for sport or other pleasure to some favorite county, concentrates his attention on one particular locality whose roads and by-paths he will learn by heart. The commercial traveller, it is true, goes east and west and north and south, but his journeyings are through a network of roads crossing and interlacing one another, and he too learns to know a special district well. In Canada the opposite of this is more frequently the case. Travellers, whether on business or pleasure bent, follow one continuous route, from which divergence is neither easy nor profitable. They sit at ease in their luxurious railway car and get acquainted with the entire breadth of their country as it passes panorama fashion before their eyes. The "sea of mountains" where billow rises above billow, and foam-like snow flecks the summits; the unbroken prairie where, this season, the young wheat is slowly approaching to maturity in the dry thirsty soil; the land of burnt out matches, as the matchless junior member for Victoria has graphically described the country between Winnipeg and Port Arthur, where the slim stems of trees, long ago stripped of their foliage by fire and bleached by rain and sunshine, stand up bent and sinless from out the short, fresh undergrowth; the glimpses of the great inland lakes and their rocky shores; the cultivated garden of southern Ontario; the forests of Quebec; all these pictures during the last few years have grown familiar to Canadian eyes, and have been stamped indelibly on Canadian minds. Blended, in remembrance, one into the other, and thus forming but one landscape, they are gradually producing as their first fruits feelings of national patriotism such as have not hitherto existed. These feelings of nationality will, as they grow and develop, guard us alike from union with the American States and from entering into an Imperial federation where conflicting interests would quickly breed discontent and every other seed of revolt. More liberal commercial treaties with her neighbors are the only liberties which Canada as a nation can still desire, and these are to be had whenever Canada wishes for them. There is no outside pressure to gain, as there would be were Canada one of a federation of states. It is only necessary that her own public opinion should demand them.

If we may be allowed to take the peninsula of Nova Scotia as corresponding on the east coast, with the island of Vancouver on the west, and the intercolonial railway as equivalent to the C. P. N. steamers, we have as mainland outposts the cities of Quebec and Vancouver. Both cities are situated on great ocean inlets, and they stand at either end of those iron rails which unite the scattered provinces and territories of the Dominion and are the sign and seal of confederation. But all resemblance between Quebec and Vancouver ends with their similarity of position, for while one is the embodiment of the past, the other lives in expectation of the future. Quebec is rich in historic memories. The first colonists who came over from France in the seventeenth century were the younger sons of French aristocratic families. They were noble by birth and chivalrous, gay, brave and adventurous by disposition. They were loyal in their allegiance to their king, from whom they obtained their grants of land, and their many perquisites and immunities, and their religion, judged by the standards of their church and country, was orthodox and fervid. No one could accuse them of that indifference, the growth of which among Protestants is so much dreaded by Mr. McLeod, or to be more accurate, by Mr. McLeod's spokesman, "Federationist," who is so much like Mr. McLeod himself that we may be pardoned if we cannot always distinguish "t'other from which." The devout Catholics, who were the earliest settlers in Canada, and gave to it its name of New France, were imbued with the intolerant ignorance of their times, and did not believe in the possibility of salvation outside the pale of their own church. That was the secret of the missionary zeal which animated them. Indifference is not an admirable quality, and we ourselves have cultivated it so little that we are by no means indifferent to Mr. McLeod's opinion, or indeed, to the opinion of any other of our fellow-citizens. Indifference at best initiates a laisser-faire sort of policy, which trusts in a natural development, and is an inevitable progress. Whether, however, it is calculated to do more harm than the zeal which would shape all things in heaven or on earth according to its own ideal may perhaps be doubtful. Good intentions count for nothing when results are reckoned up. The stream of Protestant intolerance gets diluted as it flows west, and in Victoria it is a few that may easily be encountered and overcome, provided that our Protestant indifference be not too great. Mr. McLeod should be the first to encourage and to admire individual independence of thought, and he should rebuke his friend "Federationist" for scoffing at it. A questioning, and a frequent rejection of authority have been among the distinctive features of zealous Protestantism, and the opinion of the popes, on whose infallibility "Federationist" relies—the Earl of Roseberry and Mr. Foster—has no weight for us.

If in the first Canadian cities convents and churches, the outcome of Catholic devotion, were somewhat in advance of the requirements of the sparse population, so in Vancouver, the youngest and almost brand new city in the Dominion, the handsome business blocks that adorn the spacious streets, and are the expression of nineteenth century enterprise and faith, seem to us, who view the city from the outside, to be somewhat ahead of present demands. They appear to be intended to attract the business of the future, for they scarcely seem to be the result of that which already exists. Victoria has the deeper, stronger roots and also more visible signs of vitality. The freight which passes through Vancouver and is merely transferred there from steamer to car, is misleading if taken as representing the actual trade that is transacted in the city itself.

The claims of the French part of our population do not seem to us to threaten the existence of a Canadian nationality any more than the German and Norwegian inscriptions that we see outside the emigration offices, or bureaux, if we may be allowed to use a French word which belongs, however, to our common Canadian vocabulary. A great nation must necessarily be composed of very various elements. England, within her narrow limits, tolerates a second language. "Norway, and Saxon, and Dane, are we," said Tennyson in the marriage poem with which he welcomed the Danish Princess to English shores. In like manner we may hope one day to rejoice in the proud thought that Germans, Scandinavians, and all other people who have made their home in this "Canada of ours," where first the Indian and then the Frenchman have held sway, and where the English are now in the ascendant, have sunk all considerations of race and have come to regard themselves as Canadians, first of all and above everything else. Whether we then remain in our present close alliance with the old country, or whether we assume complete independence are questions which may safely be left for the future to develop and answer. It is enough for us to take care that now, in the immediate present, in religion, in politics, and in all that pertains to our social life we "be just and fear not."

To Mr. McCloskey—The window was not fastened; never saw you about the house; owned the gun for five years; cannot swear that you stole the gun; one man was in the storeroom before the gun was missed; the cook, waiter, barkeeper, and the partner of witness could go into the room when they liked.

A. A. Aaronson said prisoner came to his store on July 4th to sell gun produced for $3.50; paid prisoner $2 for the gun, which was very rusty.

To prisoner—Noticed the name of maker on the gun; informed the police; it is none of your business how the police were informed.

Officer Lindsay said he arrested prisoner on July 4th; prisoner said he found the gun.

Louis Duval—Prisoner was at the Royal Oak Hotel from 19th June to 3rd July.

His Lordship said he would send the prisoner to gaol for three months.

His Lordship—That will make four months. You will be well provided for and will not be compelled to sleep on a gun under a bridge where you said you found the gun.

GOOD MARKET.

London, July 31.—No better indication of continental feeling toward the Boulanger bubble has been presented than the reports this morning from all great financial centres of the excellent tone on the Bourses. Markets here are firm from the same cause.

HORRIBLE HANGING.

Louisville, Ky., July 31.—Chas. Dilgar and Harry Smart, murderers, were hanged here this morning. Smart was instantly killed, but Dilgar slipped through the noose rope catcher him over the chin. He was raised up on the scaffold and a new rope procured when the drop was again sprung and Dilgar was strangled to death. Dilgar was very cool during his terrible experience and said "this shows I should not die."

THE EMPEROR SAILS.

Berlin, July 31.—Emperor William left Wilhelmshaven to day for England, the royal yacht being accompanied by a squadron of warships. The empress returned to Berlin after his departure.

THAT SEIZURE.

Washington, July 31.—No further advices have been received at the treasury department respecting the seizure of the British vessel Black Diamond by the United States cutter Rush, and no further instructions will be issued to the latter's commander. His previous instructions cover the case in point, and he is expected to take the Black Diamond to Sitka and turn her over to the collector.

GEORGE S. LADD DEAD.

San Francisco, July 29.—A telegram from London announces the death this morning of George S. Ladd, a well-known San Francisco and president of the Pacific Bell Telephone Company.

DESTRUCTIVE FLOODS.

New York, July 31.—To day's reports of the floods in New Jersey show the destruction to be widespread. There is a wide expanse of water all the way from Mount Clair to Bloomfield river which has overflowed cellars and numerous houses along the Lackawana Railway. Crawford river, two miles west of Rosille, has overflowed its banks and part of the town of Crawford is flooded. At Melbourne the roads are impassable being under water. Traffic on all railroad tracks is suspended. Several frame houses were wrecked there. Elizabeth suffered greatly and houses in the low lands flooded cannot be occupied until the water is pumped out. Bridges at Grand and West Jersey streets are swept away and the river is full of wreckage. West Chester and the adjoining counties of this State have been seriously affected. Damage through this section of the county will be much more. Many stories sent out last night were greatly exaggerated. The worst affects New Jersey.

DOMINION ELECTIONS.

Everyone who has an interest in the country should remember that the last opportunity to register their names on the Dominion voters list will occur on Thursday, August 1st. To do this the proper application will have to be made at the office of Mr. Edwin Johnson, where the necessary forms will be supplied. As a change may be desired at the next election it is imperative that every name should be on the lists.

THE JUDICIARY.

There is one feature about the appointment of county court judges for British Columbia that should not be lost sight of, and it is this: The Dominion government are now paying yearly pensions to five gentlemen who were relieved only a few years ago from duty as county court judges, and two additional supreme and county court judges appointed in their stead. The following are the retired county court judges and their present pensions:

| | |
|---|---|
| Hon. H. M. Ball | $2,266 56 |
| " P. O'Reilly | 2,000 00 |
| " E. H. Saunders | 2,000.00 |
| " A. F. Pemberton | 1,622 16 |
| " W. H. Spalding | 1,622 16 |
| Total | $9,510.88 |

It should be mentioned that at the present time Mr. O'Reilly is not the recipient of the above pension, as he is paid as Indian Reserve Commissioner $3500 per annum. Now, if our information is correct, and we have every reason to believe it to be so, that the Provincial government have asked the Federal government to appoint Mr. P. Æ. Irving as county court judge at Nanaimo, Mr. G. E. Corbould at New Westminster and S. Y. Wootton at Kamloops, and the members in the Commons have named Mr. Spinks for Kamloops and ex-Lieut.-Governor Cornwall for Cariboo, the public ought to be fully and officially informed of it, as they have a greater interest in the proper and efficient administration of justice than any person who may temporarily fill the position of member of the provincial executive, or member of the House of Commons, and we hold that political considerations, or seniority at the provincial bar, or any other rank should carry no weight, but ability, honesty and legal experience should be the guide in a selection, and no person should be recommended as the holder of a commission as a supreme or county court judge who has not been immediately preceding his appointment an active practitioner before a jury and in open court before a supreme court judge.

The residents of the various districts named should wake up and move in this matter; it will be too late to growl after the appointments are made. The reliability of our information may be depended upon in spite of the denial of the government organ. We got it direct from Ottawa by underground wire. We say candidly that we do not disapprove of all the names mentioned, but consider great care should be made in selection and the rights of the taxpayers considered. It should be remembered that the Speedy Trials Act will be administered by these gentlemen. The cost and delay in litigation is now enormous, and in some instances almost prohibitory. It is all the more important therefore that the best men available should be authorized to administer the law. We have not referred to the necessity or otherwise of these additional judges and leave that for another occasion.

"CITIZEN" DISCUSSED.

Discretion is the better part of valor, particularly if you are overmatched, and thus we may suppose thinks "Citizen" in his remarks in extenuation of American doings in the Behring sea. He evidently has in mind that though Uncle Sam is a little short of ironclads, he has a surplus of money and a surplus of Irish who are just spoiling to get a whack at John Bull. Under the circumstances, therefore, discretion as a substitute for valor is admirable, and if consistently persevered in by Canadians in general will eventuate, doubtless, in the Yankees taking peaceful possession, not alone of the Behring sea, but the earth. But while there is much to applaud in the pacific attitude of "Citizen," and while it is true that American sealers, alike with British Columbia sealers, have been seized and confiscated for pursuing an honest vocation on the high seas, the fact does not establish the justness of the American claim to the Behring sea. The Americans, years ago, protested against the claim of Russia's supremacy in these waters, and had civilization been as far advanced on this coast then as now trouble, probably, would have resulted. But what lends force to the British Columbia claim to unqualified right to catch seals in Behring sea is the tone of the American press. At no time has the press of that country dissented from the general proposition advanced by the seal catching interest in this city. To them the position of the United States government has appeared to be untenable, and indeed, some of them have gone so far as to allege that Congress was inspired by venal motives in the closing of Behring sea. It is now well known that the Alaska Fur Company stock was distributed where it would do the most good prior to the act of Congress which declared the sea closed, and since then to insure the maintainance of the status quo a powerful lobby has been supported by the company at Washington. It is quite true that Congress was actuated to some extent to close Behring sea as a measure of retaliation for the emphatic stand of the Canadian government on the cod fisheries dispute, but that the measure in general terms was not inspired and paid for by the Alaska Fur Company, using at the same time retaliation as a cloak to hide their part in the proceeding, is in so far as circumstantial evidence is concerned beyond cavil. The fact, therefore, of American sealers being seized as well as British Columbia sealers is of no consequence as establishing the equity of the right to sovereignty over Behring Sea. If anything it is a powerful illustration of what a wealthy corporation can do, which has a venal legislative body to deal with and the latter an Irish vote to pander to. A democratic administration clamoring on the east for open water, and on the west deliberately reversing the principle in the matter of a sea in which all the Nova Scotian bays are as fish ponds, is a beautiful instance of consistency, an illustration in fact of what democrats can do whose palms are itchy and who would burn gunpowder for the Irish vote. But if we find in this delectable Congress something to sneer at, what shall we say of England's apathy in a matter which vitally affects her citizens? Upon what grounds does she hang back? Why should she remain passive? Why has she not demanded the settlement of a difficulty that those who are engaged in sealing might know what they are about? Says England, if you take seals in Behring sea you do so at your own risk. Why should this be, or at least, in taking the trouble to give this warning why has not England appended a reason therefor? If England has discovered that the Americans are right why does she not say so? If the matter is undetermined why does she not say so? But no, we are simply told that if we go a sealing in Behring sea it is at our own risk. No reason is vouchsafed. And yet with all this unsatisfactory condition of affairs there are men who are insane enough to imagine that Imperial Federation is possible. But 'tis superfluous to discuss the situation further. It need only be said that the seizing of twice as many American as British sealers in Behring sea by no means justifies the American claim to that water.

BOULANGER'S DEFEAT.

Gen. Boulanger has been defeated at the polls, having carried but twelve out of five hundred and fifty cantons. In this country a verdict of this kind would practically extinguish a politician, but whether the rule applies in France is another question. One thing is certain, the French government thus far have completely outwitted the man on "horseback." Compelling him to fly the country under suspicious circumstances, men who were dubious of his patriotism, but who would have supported him had he remained in France, have now abandoned him altogether, while his ardent friends, discouraged by his absence, or perhaps convinced of his unavailability from having had an opportunity to reflect, have ceased to press his claims with the enthusiasm and vehemence which characterized their efforts in the past. In politics it is doubtful if "absence makes the heart grow fonder," particularly in the case of a man whom any sober thinking Frenchman must have acknowledged had no genuine claim to genius. Boulanger's defeat is the necessary consequence of absence. He might have known as much, and all in all it is the best thing probably which could have happened France.

REPORT ON LUNACY.

The forty-third annual report made by the commissioners in lunacy to the Lord Chancellor has lately been presented to the British Parliament. It contains the usual statistics of lunacy in England and Wales, together with detailed accounts of the condition and management of the several asylums and other institutions licensed for the care and custody of the insane. The total number of lunatics, idiots, and persons of unsound mind in England and Wales on the first of January last was 84,340, being an increase of 1,697 on the numbers returned in the previous year. Of the total number of 84,340, 7,970 were returned as lunatics of the private class, 75,532 as paupers, and 738 as criminals. The increase for the year in each of these classes was 775, 1,461, and 61 respectively. The average annual increase for the ten years next preceding January 1, 1888, was 1,410, so that the total increase for last year was more than 200 in excess of the average increase for the preceding ten years. In most of these cases the increase in lunacy seems to be more than proportional to the increase of population, so that the inference seems to be sound that, roughly speaking, the pressure of population and the stress of life in industrial districts are among the causes of the increase in pauper lunacy. This, indeed, is very much what might be expected, but the disquieting fact still remains that pauper lunacy increases while pauperism, which is a rough measure of material prosperity, is either stationary or declining, and that the proportion of lunacy to the increase of population is a growing one. It would almost seem, indeed, as if the social and moral conditions of industrial life in this country were becoming less and less favorable to the maintenance of a sound balance of mind, and more productive of the predisposing causes of insanity, in spite of improved sanitary conditions, and, on the whole, of increased material prosperity.

From the foregoing, which is an extract from the London Times, it will be perceived that while the writer attributes the predisposing causes of insanity to the social and moral conditions of industrial life and those too under improved sanitary conditions, together with increased material prosperity, he does not undertake to specify the particular features comprehended in these conditions which most operate to induce mental aberration. We are not told whether it is overwork, vice or what, that induces insanity. Left to surmise as best we may as to the specific causes which unsettle the mental faculties, we are carried a step further, and will say the more intelligent society is the greater the susceptibility to brain disorders. Thus, while education improves our mental condition, broadens our horizon of knowledge and adds to our resources for making a livelihood, on the other hand our susceptibilities are sharpened and unless it shall have so happened that our philosophy has been strengthened correspondingly, the pains of disappointment affect us more keenly, and we all know the part that plays toward destroying the mental equilibrium. Disappointment and worry are prime causes of insanity. Fools never worry and consequently never become insane. It is only susceptible persons who succumb in the upper story. So soon as you sharpen the susceptibilities by education you increase the chances of insanity. In proportion, therefore, as society is improved in due proportion will insanity increase. The further we remove ourselves from animality the more susceptible we become to trouble, the deeper we take disappointment to heart and the brain gives way finally to the strain. The fact, therefore, that insanity is increasing need not be regarded with surprise; it is the natural consequence of what we call progress.

PAT M'BRIDE & CO.

Stretching away on every side
A fair domain you see;
A part belongs to Pat McBride,
A part belongs to me.
I own the golden light of morn,
With all its tints that play
Upon the springing grass and corn;
Pat owns the corn and hay.

Pat rises when the morn is new,
And so, sometimes, do I;
I too be has enough to do
As I am passing by
His muscles seem to be of steel,
While mine, sometimes, relax;
But he so sturdy seems to feel,
I let him pay the tax.

No man has wealth enough to buy
My part in this domain;
I would not sell my clouds and sky—
My shadows on the plain;
I would not see this golden light—
The tints these breezes tell;
Gold has no power to buy my right;
For money, Pat might sell.

I gaze at ease, on every hand,
As our possessions fair;
Pat plows and sows and reaps the land
And keeps it in repair.
So Pat does me a world of good,
While I do Pat no harm;
And on these terms, well understood,
We both enjoy the farm.

THE FUNNIEST THING.

A FROG IS TWICE AS FUNNY AS HE LOOKS, IF YOU ONLY KNEW IT.

To Begin With, He Is Built That Way Entirely—Then, He Is a Humorist of the First Water—Furthermore, a Precious Artist of Splendid Equipment.

It is nowhere of record that the allegation, "The funniest thing's a frog," has ever been denied, although there is no evidence that the man who made it really knew how funny a frog actually is. The probabilities are that he had been impressed with the frog's comical pre-eminence simply by observation of his external architecture as he posed in adult picturesqueness on a log. He noticed, of course, that a frog is so built that all the neck he has is the top of his head. He couldn't have failed to observe that the frog's mouth begins where his shoulders leave off. If the observer didn't note that the frog has to watch out when he sits down or he may poke his eye out with his big toe, he failed to enjoy one of his favorite's best low comedy hits.

And when it dawned upon him, as it it must have dawned, that the drum of the frog's ear is worn on the outside of his head, being attached to the gable end of his upper jaw, he was of course satisfied that no further evidence was necessary, and he was ready to take the world into his confidence and utter that famous declaration about the frog's incontestable claim to be placed on record as the funniest thing that is. Yet even the halo of drollery that surrounds the frog at this ripe period of its existence is as funereal gloom compared to the humor of his younger days.

HIS EARLY DISGUISES.

This observer, whose sententious commentary has passed into a proverb, shouldn't have been content with the humor of which the mere physical contour of the completed frog is capable. He should have gone back to the time when the frog was but a protoplastic atom, involuntarily cruising along the border of some marshy pond, where the muskrat burrows among the logs and the wild flag waves its lances to the passing breeze, and whose presence is worth at least $2.50 a day to the adjacent dispenser of quinine.

He should have sought out that gluttonous molecule. He never would have suspected it a frog. He never would have believed that one day that inert globule would be humped up on a bog snapping at flies and voicing basso profundo serenades to the stilly night. He would as soon have looked for the evolution of a thoroughbred racer from a wooden saw horse. But that is just what that globule is there for, and if this insufficient observer had only gone back and watched it grow up with the country he would have seen how doubly fortified against cavil he would have been in declaring that a frog's place is at the head of all embodiment of humor, animate or inanimate, conscious or unconscious.

The frog's embryonic idea of fun is to do a number of interesting lightning changes. His masterpiece as a molecular comedian, and his last act in that line of business, is to transform himself into the living likeness and granular structure of a mulberry. It is while making this horticultural display of himself that the whimsical creature is preparing for one of his most droll surprises, and he next appears in the lively and grotesque character of a fish that has a mouth and rows of teeth like sheephead's, two other mouths like a sucker's, the tail of an eel, nostrils three times as big as its mouth, a pair of gills that branch from its head like the antlers of a deer, and the digestive apparatus of a grasshopper! All three of its mouths are in a row on the under side of its chin, the one with the teeth being in the middle.

A BOWLING SUCCESS.

This screaming presentation is known to the small boy as the polliwog and to science as the tadpole. It is the frog's first ambitious attempt at being really funny. It is an instantaneous and cyclonic success. But it is followed in good time by other changes in the bill. First, the frog, in his character of polliwog, calls in his antler like gills and stows them away inside of his head somewhere. Then he springs a pair of legs on you. They sprout out on each side of his body, just aft of the spot where his gills soaked in, and the convulsed observer says:

"Hello! There's his fore legs!"

That is evidently just what the frog in his ludicrous character wants the observer to think, for it adds to the humorous surprise that he has in store for him when he suddenly sprouts another pair of legs, and the observer finds that, although the first ones had their roots close behind the polliwog's ears, they were, nevertheless, its hind legs, and that the new legs pop out ahead of them, and, of course, are the fore legs themselves. This joke of the frog's is so good that he adds still another change to his make up, so that he can enjoy it himself. He gets rid of the little sheephead mouth and the two sucker mouths, and takes on a new mouth that reaches clear across his face, and he looks up and smiles an expansive smile.

During all the time that the frog masquerades as a polliwog he gorges himself on a strictly vegetable diet, and if he had been scooped out of the water and kept out a few minutes death would have claimed him for its own. But when he has got through with his leg show he trades off his gills for a pair of lungs, changes his fish heart for the heart of a reptile, discards his grasshopper intestinal arrangement for a regular set of animal digesters, and leads himself out of the water on to a log, or upon the shore among the rushes, and cocks his bulging eye up at you in a rollicking way, plainly informing you that he would be pleased to know what you think of him as a full blown lizard. He hasn't got a thing with him that he started in with as a polliwog except his eel's tail. He hasn't been long a land lubber before he begins to hump himself on the back, and to develop the mouth that is to become the great attraction of his features when he graduates as the finished frog.—New York Sun.

—F. Burrows, of Wilkesport, writes that he has cured of a very dangerous case of inflammation of the lungs, solely by the use of five bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Feels great pleasure in recommending it to the public, as he had proved it (for many of the diseases it mentions to cure) through his friends, and in nearly every instance it was effectual.

Damages frequently take the form of Dyspepsia, Constipation and Biliousness, which can be easily repaired with Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, the Great Blood Purifier and renovator of the system.

—A lady from Syracuse writes: "For about seven years before taking Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspepsia Cure, I suffered from a complaint very prevalent with our sex. I was unable to walk any distance or stand on my feet for more than a few minutes at a time without feeling exhausted, but now I am thankful to say, I can walk two miles without feeling the least inconvenience." For Female Complaints it has no equal.

Ascending Mount St. Elias.

The proposed attempt to climb Mt. St. Elias by the two French gentlemen at present in Sitka has been deferred until next spring, when M. G. de la Sablière and Viscount du Boyerie, who are to comprise the party, will return accompanied by Swiss guides and equipped with a complete outfit for the task. As showing that they have not abandoned the trip they have left behind at the Millmore House a number of instruments and considerable baggage. The five visitors from Paris have taken their departure.

Improved Postal Connections.

A late Ottawa despatch announces that the contract for the new Atlantic mail service to be performed by the Messrs. Anderson, has been signed. The contractors have undertaken to furnish steamers at a speed of twenty knots, able to make the distance between Quebec and Plymouth in six days. The vessels are to be of 6000 tons, Halifax is to be the terminus in winter and Quebec in summer. It is not known whether the vessels will call at Montreal, but if they carry any considerable quantity of freight it will be necessary for them to do so. The new line will, it is believed, be in operation next spring. In a recent issue the London Times, said the steamers will sail from London for Cherbourg, making Plymouth the final port of call. The steaming time will be taken from or arriving at Plymouth. It is announced that the British Postmaster-General has signed the contract with the Canadian Pacific Railway for a fast monthly service between Vancouver and China and Japan, only a few formalities being necessary to enable the contract to be laid on the table of the House of Commons. This secures an unbroken express connection between Great Britain and the East. The order for the new Pacific steamers will shortly be given, and it is expected arrangements will be speedily completed for floating the company to undertake the Atlantic and Australasian mail service.—Trade Review.

Colonial "Honorables."

Sir G. Baden-Powell, in the House of Commons, asked the Under Secretary of State for the Colonies whether Her Majesty's government had issued any new regulations or instructions relating to the use of the prefix "honorable" in addressing members of colonial governments or legislatures.

Baron H. De Worms—There appears to be a misapprehension, the origin of which the Secretary of State has not been able to trace. The question has not been raised recently in any shape, and the Secretary of State has certainly issued no directions on the subject. The title of "honorable" has for many years been accorded to members of Executive Councils and Legislative Councils in all colonies, including the smaller Crown colonies. It has at no time been the practice to use that title in addressing colonial gentlemen residing in this country, but it is a common practice to accord it when the person entitled to it is absent from his own colony on a visit to another colony. The reason for not addressing colonial gentlemen by that title when they are in this country would appear to be that here it is not adopted as a designation of any executive or legislative status, being the courtesy title distinguishing the sons of peers. But although no new instructions have been issued on this subject, it happens to be the case that during the Colonial Conference the Secretary of State did take the new course of addressing as "honorable" the colonial representatives actually serving on the conference, feeling that their presence here on official duty might properly be so recognized.—London Times.

To carry out the objects comprised in each paragraph of this clause in as full and ample a manner, and construed in as wide a sense as they would be construed if each paragraph of this clause defined the objects of a separate, distinct and independent company, and so that such objects shall not, except where otherwise expressed in such paragraph, be restricted by reference to the objects indicated in any other paragraph.

26. To do all such other things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the above objects, or any of them, or which the Company shall consider incidental or conclusive to the attainment of the above objects, or any of them, and so that the word "company" in this memorandum shall be deemed to include any partnership or other body of persons, whether corporate or incorporate, and wherever domiciled.

Dust to Dust.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Estes occurred at 11 o'clock this morning from the family residence, Yates street, where services for the dead were read by Rev. ### "C" Battery Notes.

On Monday the entire force of the battery will go to Macaulay's point and go into camp there for one month.

A master parade in marching order was held this morning before Lieut.-Col. Holmes and staff.

This afternoon the married men's quarters were inspected by Lieut.-Col. Holmes, which is the first time it has been done since the advent of the battery here.

Generous Americans.

The Sitka Alaskan says: It is with pleasure and great thankfulness that we record the gift to the Sitka Mission School from Mrs. Elliot F. Shepard of $2,000 to the laundry and $500 to the Boy's Hospital. Both sums were much needed and relieve pressing necessities. Mrs. Shepard is the wife of Col. Elliot F. Shepard of the New York Mail and Express, and donated $2,500 to the Johnstown sufferers.

Electric Street Railway.

The electric railway of Seattle has done an immense business since it started. Since April 7th it has carried 380,773 persons. The largest number of passengers carried by one car at one time was 102. The best day's business for the four cars was 4,630 passengers. While the number of cars on the road is out of all proportion to the number of passengers carried, the fault lies with the car manufacturers. The electric system is being so generally adopted that orders for rolling stock cannot be filled. Cars ordered for Seattle are three months overdue.

Trade with British Columbia.

The merchandise exports from San Francisco to British Columbia in June were valued at $81,609. Since January 1, 1889 the monthly exports have been as follows:

| Months— | Amount. |
|---|---|
| January | $68,130 |
| February | 96,980 |
| March | 119,421 |
| April | 95,074 |
| May | 75,230 |
| June | 81,779 |
| Total | $535,594 |

The total for the same time in 1888 was $442,611, showing an increase of $81,233 for the current year.

Salmon Pack in Alaska.

The Sitka Alaskan of the 13th inst., says: "From reliable sources it is learned that the pack of the several salmon canneries in Southeastern Alaska up to a week ago had been a small one. Below will be found the actual figures: Loring, 1000 cases; Tongass Narrows, 1000 cases; Wrangell, 5000 cases; Chilco, 1000 cases; Chilkat (Pointdexter's), 1000 cases; Pyramid Harbor, 750 cases. The last named cannery was destroyed by fire in April and rebuilt last month. In three days after starting up there had been packed 750 cases. Freshwater Bay, 750 cases; Bartlett's Bay, not ready yet to commence packing, and fears were being entertained that they would be forced to suspend for want of fish. The Alaskan of the 20th inst., says "Large catches of salmon—from 100 to 400 fish being hauled in at each draught of the seine—are being made almost daily by the Russians and Indians."

He is Safe.

Mr. Alex. Begg writes to a friend from Seattle that he is all right. His valise and overcoat were stolen off the boat the morning he went away.

Kindly Consented.

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Cridge has kindly consented to officiate as pastor at the public marriage to take place at the Foresters' picnic on Saturday afternoon next.

Valuable Shipment.

Two car loads of sealskins, comprising 58 casks, were shipped to London, Eng., this morning via the C. P. R., by Messrs Carne and Muncie of this city. The shipment was one of the most valuable that ever left this city and is valued at $40,000.

Sloop Sold.

Mr. Jarvis Longhurst has disposed of his fast sailing sloop, the Mary, to two young gentlemen of Vancouver. The sloop was taken up to its new home yesterday morning on the deck of the steamer Yosemite. The price paid for the craft was $350.

Incoming Passengers.

The Walla Walla is due from San Francisco in the morning with the following passengers: Miss Leach, F. Smith, Mrs. Humphrey, R. Reinhardt, Mrs. Spencer, R. H. Beresford, K. Robinson, L. H. Edelick, A. Wilson, T. Smith and wife, Miss Leonie.

The End Approaching.

Enquiry respecting the condition of the Hon. A. E. B. Davie at 4 o'clock this afternoon elicited the reply that he was not expected to live through the day. This news will be heard with the deepest regret by every member of the community.

Telegraph Wire.

A carload of telegraph wire for the Bonilla Point line has arrived from the east; also twelve casks of insulators and appurtenances. The length of this consignment of line is about forty-five miles, which with previous consignments is sufficient to cover the entire distance proposed.

Sudden Illness.

Charles Wallace, an old resident of this city, was taken suddenly ill this morning in his room on Yates street, over Bauman's candy store. He was bleeding at the mouth and nose and appeared to be in a precarious condition. At 2 o'clock this afternoon he was conscious and was taken to the Royal Hospital.

Looks like 'Biz.

The tenants in the old frame buildings on the corner of Langley and Yates streets have been notified to seek other quarters and to-day commenced removing their goods and fixtures. As announced in these columns some time since, Mr. A. J. Langley intends to erect a handsome brick on the site of the present old buildings. Operations will begin at once.

Bear Pets.

Capt. Hunter, the popular commander of the Geo. W. Elder, has a cute pair of little black bears on board the steamer, which were captured in Alaska. They are an untiring source of amusement to tourists and are never known to quarrel, except over their daily dish of milk, when one of them will lay across the dish and the other will take him by the ear and pull him off it.

Wigs and Gowns.

The following gentlemen have passed the examination of the law society: A. L. Belyea, Victoria, as barrister and solicitor.

C. A. Pemberton, Victoria, as barrister having previously passed as solicitor.

A. C. B. Jack, New Westminster, barrister and solicitor.

J. B. Cherry, New Westminster, as solicitor.

The Largest Yet.

If people visited the C. P. N. Company's wharf they would wonder what is done with the immense amount of freight continually arriving. Last night's steamer was no exception to the rule, excepting that the freight was unusually large. Amongst the freight was the largest consignment of sugar ever arriving at one time. It aggregated 80 tons, from the St. Lawrence refinery, Montreal, consigned to Thos. Earle, S. Leiser and J. H. Todd.

Marine.

Steamship Parthia, from Vancouver, arrived at Hong Kong on July 24th.

Barkentine Malay, from Victoria, arrived at Sydney on July 25th.

The steam collier San Mateo, left the Union mine, Comox, to-day with 4500 tons of coal for San Francisco.

Barque Rosita, from Iquiqui, Peru, Capt. Caballero, arrived at Burrard Inlet on Monday to load lumber at Moodyville for Valparaiso. She was 62 days making the trip.

Services Postponed.

Owing to temporary indisposition the Rt. Rev. Bishop Hills has been obliged to defer his visit to Nanaimo for another week. His lordship, with Archdeacon Scriven, will, according to the new arrangement, reach Nanaimo on Saturday, the 10th, and on the afternoon the Bishop will hold his visitation of the church. The next day, Sunday, the 11th, the Bishop will preach in the morning and the Archdeacon in the evening, when also the rite of confirmation will be administered by the Bishop.

Dry Weather.

As an instance of the extreme spell of dry weather which is now afflicting this district, says the Nanaimo Free Press, Mr. David Hogan informs us that at his farm on Gabriola Island, a stream that has not been dry for the past 26 years is now dry. A hole has even been dug in the bed of the stream within the last few days without obtaining a sign of water. The farmers from the several districts report that the crops are drying up, in fact fairly baking for want of rain.

New Boilers.

Three new boilers for the Dominion government dredger are being manufactured by the Albion Iron Works. The old boilers, originally built in England, have seen a lifetime's service and are now worn to an extent that their removal is necessary.

The boiler of the steamer Isabel is not giving satisfaction, so it is proposed to transfer one of the tug Alexander's boilers to her at an early date.

On completion of the tug Lorne, probably in one month from the present, the tug Pilot will have a new hull built and otherwise be remodelled.

Columbia River Pack.

The following is from advance sheets of the Johnson-Locke Mercantile Company's salmon circular, under date of July 20th: We give you herewith an estimate of the salmon pack on the Columbia River for the season 1889. This has been made by the most eminent authority on the Columbia river, David Morgan, jr. The pack for the season is estimated at 288,400 cases, as against 355,000 cases last year, or a shortage of 66,600 cases. But in the 288,400 cases given by Mr. Morgan as the 1889 pack, he estimates that at least 30,000 cases are steelheads. This reduces the legitimate Columbia River salmon pack to 258,400 cases.

His Best "Take."

Bert Nye, foreman of the Standard composing room, secured a valuable and life-like "take" at Hymen's alter last night. He and Miss May Manuel were quietly married by Rev. D. Fraser, at 103 Pandora street. Mr. B. C. Ferguson supported the groom while Miss Ada Troupe acted the pleasing role of bridesmaid. The groom has the reputation of being the handsomest "comp" in the city and his partner in future joys and sorrows is a very estimable young lady with a host of friends in this city. The brotherhood of "comps" offer the happy couple their warmest congratulations.

The friends and associates of Mr. Nye on the Standard staff, waited on him this evening and presented him with a silver sugar bowl and silver spoon rack and spoons.

ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLING.

Two Gay Young Men Gathered in by the Police.

Last evening about half past ten two young men were arrested at the Driard House, having returned a few minutes before from a row up the Arm. The twain had arrived in the city on the Sonoed boat of Monday evening and registered at the hotel under the assumed names of "Chas. A. Stuart" and "B. E. Hughes." On the same evening on which they arrived a telegram was received by Manager Archibald of the telegraph office from Capt. Lees of the San Francisco detective force, requesting him to inform the police to keep a close look out for two young Englishmen, named Wm. Leith Ross and H. R. P. Hutton, who were believed to be in Victoria. Capt. Lees also requested that they be shadowed and if they left the city that he should be informed. Yesterday (Tuesday) Supt. Sheppard wired for particulars and last evening received a dispatch giving a description of the men, their baggage etc., and asking that Ross be searched for $1,500 in coin and a number of promissory notes which he had embezzled. A search was then instituted with the result that the chief found his men at the Driard about an hour and a half after the telegram had arrived. When informed that they were wanted, neither evinced much surprise, but simply remarked that the "J—— Yankees cannot reach us here." They were taken to the police station by officers Lavin and Hughes, while Chief Sheppard remained to secure the sum of $1575 in cash which Ross had handed over for safe keeping on his arrival at the hotel. The officers on searching Ross at the station found coin to the extent of $140 and promissory notes on him to the amount of $4,000 as follows:

One note of $10,000, drawn by W. S. Wood in favor of Jno. W. Mackay, and one similar note for the sum of $5,090.

One note of $25,000, drawn by Joseph N. Lowther in favor of W. S. Hobert.

One note drawn by Frank M. Pixley in favor of J. C. Flood for $5,000.

One note payable to self for $3,000, signed by M. M. Estee.

This morning Capt. Lees telegraphed to Chief Sheppard to search Ross' valise for $46,000 in promissory notes in addition to those secured last evening. On the receipt of the telegram the valise was searched but the notes were not there. The chief then interviewed Ross and advised him to disclose the whereabouts of the missing documents. The latter consented after some hesitation and informed the officer that they were in the safe of the Occidental Hotel, where the following were found:

Note signed by B. Angus, in favor of G. L. Brander for $3,467.23.

Wm. Bronson, favor of W. S. Hobart, $1,172.30.

E. I. Norton, favor W. S. Hobart, $5,820.

W. S. Lyle, favor J. C. Flood, $29,577.84.

D. C. Nichols, favor J. P. Jones, $3,000.

F. A. Pritle, favor Theress Fair, $2,500.

Wm. Hamilton, favor of J. P. Jones, $1,000.

A reporter of THE TIMES visited the station this morning and found both Ross and Hutton there, the latter keeping his friend company, although he had been discharged last night, there being no charge on which to detain him. Both are young men about twenty-four years of age, well dressed and respectable looking, in fact a trifle dudey in their make-up, as the dude is understood in the west.

In conversation Ross was found to be an intelligent young fellow and spoke freely to the reporter. He said he had been employed in the Bank of Nevada, San Francisco, for the past five years. He was in charge of the exchange and collection desks for a time and was expected to perform the work of both without any assistance and had received no increased remuneration for it.

What about the money and notes? was asked.

"The money was my own," Ross replied, "and I can prove by Wells, Fargo & Co's books that it and more was sent out to me from England. In respect to the promissory notes they were scattered among some private papers on my desk and were picked up by me in mistake. It was merely an error. My own papers will be found in their place which will show that these were taken in mistake. The notes were all old, mostly protested, and are no good to me as they are not negotiable."

What are you going to do about this?

"I have wired back that everything will be fixed up all right. If the collections are out of order or anything is short it will be squared off."

Will you go back?

"No."

Why did you come up here?

"I came up here to spend my usual two weeks' holiday."

And Hutton.

"He was merely traveling with me as a friend and did not know anything about this. I did not tell him."

Why then did you both register under assumed names?

"I don't care to answer that."

Ross is now only a little short to the bank people and as all their property has been restored to them and as he has promised to obtain money from his friends in England and make everything good it is likely that extradition may not be asked for.

SUDDEN DEATH.

H. McNab Stuart Discovered Dead in His Room.

At 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon H. McNab Stuart was seen at his office on Langley street, in the old board of trade rooms. He left for his room at D. Heal's residence, Yates street, shortly after and complained of feeling unwell. He was advised to lie down for a short time and was seen to enter his room. Later in the evening it was discovered that he was dead, having passed away apparently without a struggle. The deceased was about 40 years of age and was a resident of this city for the past six years. He was a son of Chief Justice Stuart of the Supreme Court of Quebec. During his residence in Victoria he practiced in the county and police courts. He received an excellent education in Quebec and was admitted to the bar of that province. For some years the deceased suffered from heart disease, and it is believed that he was in the habit of using morphine. It is possible that he took an overdose of the drug after returning to his room on Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Renwick held a post mortem examination on the remains, and the coroner will hold an inquest on the body at 6 o'clock this evening. The parents were advised of his death by telegraph this morning and it is believed that the remains will be embalmed and sent to his home in Quebec City.

PROCLAMATION.

NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT CHANCELLOR Browning, Commissioner for the C. P. R., has this the 26th day of July, 1889, issued a proclamation warning all persons from purchasing lots from Samuel Greer in Lot 526, Group One. Now, may it please Your Lordship, I have never offered for sale any lots in said Lot 526, for that would be deception on the public, as the highest legal authority in British Columbia pronounced the title to that lot stark—not one cent as consideration having been given. Now, if Your Lordship will adjudge your writ and recover from your deep studies of Blackstone and the laws of estoppel, you will be able to see that the four Judges who threw your case out of Court last April were fully able to comprehend the difference between 526 and Pre-emption Record 1038, this being the Unnumbered Number of my land on English Bay. Come down and see us. I have a few corner lots (with a smattering of coal) yet left. I mean to sell, and the public will persist in buying them, notwithstanding Your Lordship's decision. Things will move just the same at English Bay.

All parties are hereby warned that Agnes and Smith have no title to Lot 526 till confirmed by the Legislature, and all sales will be void.
